the Inspector-General or the Commandant may exempt ex-Home Guards from initial training altogether in case he is re-enrolled for a second term of service in the force; and the personnel of the technical corps may be given technical training in such manner and for such period, not being more than three months, as may be determined by the State Government from time to time.

(ii)

(2)

The syllabus for the training of the technical corps shall be prescribed by the Inspector-General in consultation with such technical experts as may be selected by the State Government.

12.

Period of duty.

(1)

(i)

After the training prescribed under Rule 11 and during the period in which a Home Guard is required to serve the State Government under sub-section (1) of Section 8 of the Act, he shall be required to be on duty for three days a month or six days every alternate month, each day being of six hours, and shall attend training camp for three weeks in the year:

Provided that ex-Home Guards including members of the technical corps who are re-enrolled for a second term of service may be exempted from attending the monthly duty other than attendance at the refresher course at the discretion of the Inspector-General or the Commandant.

(ii)

While the convenience of the Home Guard will ordinarily be taken into account, he must accept the roster of duties prepared by Platoon Commander concerned or other superior officers.

(iii)

A Home Guard in the reserve force shall attend a refresher course for three weeks every year or for such other term as may be determined by the State Government from time to time.

(iv)

Notwithstanding anything contained in clauses (i) to (iii), a Home Guard shall at any time be liable to be called out for the discharge of any duty specified in sub-rule (2) of Rule 13 which may be allotted to him by the District Magistrate.

(v)

Ordinarily, a Home Guard shall be called out to serve only in his own district, but in an emergency he shall be liable to serve at any time anywhere in the State.

(2)

(i)

The District Magistrate may, under Section 4 of the Act, call out a Home Guard by an order in Form F for the discharge of any duty in accordance with the provisions of the Act and these Rules.

(ii)

A Home Guard may be called out even under the verbal orders of the District Magistrate, whenever the latter considers that an emergency has arisen.

13.

Duties.

(1)

It shall be the duty of every Home Guard to assist in the maintenance of peace and tranquillity of the State, to inculcate the habit of self-reliance and discipline and to develop a sense of civic responsibilities among citizens of the State and to assist in the maintenance of essential services for which these volunteers may be trained specially.

(2)

Subject to any general or special orders of the District Magistrate, the Home Guards may be required to perform all or any of the following duties:-

(a)

prevention of commission of crime;

(b)

protection of life and property;

(c)

assistance in the organisation and functioning of village guards;

(d)

collection and communication of intelligence concerning law and order to the immediate superior;

(e)

Suppression of disorders;

(f)

to report and check currency of rumours likely to disturb the peace;

(g)

to assist fire-fighting services;

(h)

to render first-aid help in the removal of casualties to hospitals;

(i)

relief work relating to outbreak of fire or accident or natural calamities;

(3)

Every officer of the Home Guards Force shall comply with all orders issued either by the Inspector-General or the Commandant or the District Magistrate or any officer authorised by the Inspector-General, the Commandant or the District Magistrate in accordance with the general or special orders of the State Government.

(4)

Every member of the Home Guards Force shall carry out the orders of his superiors promptly and with due diligence.

(5)

Failure to attend at the hour, date and place specified in any order of the District Magistrate, the Inspector-General or the Commandant, for the discharge of any duty, under the provisions of this Act and these Rules shall amount to an offence under clause (a) of sub-section (i) of Section 10 of the Act.

14.

Allowance.

(1)

(i)

During the period in which a Home Guard is on active service (excluding the period spent over training) or in the reserve force under sub-section (1) of Section 8, he shall receive duty allowance at a rate of Rs. 1.50 in addition to rations in accordance with the prescribed scale per day. If no ration is supplied he will draw a ration allowance of Rs. 40 per month:

Provided that if the hours of duty is less than 3 hours a day, the Home Guard will draw a duty allowance of Re. 1 but no rations.

(ii)

The period spent in reaching a parade or assembly ground will also count as duty. Home Guards shall get a single railway or bus fare of the lowest class spent by him in reaching the place and duty allowance at the rate of Re. 1.50 per day, provided duty allowance is not drawn in accordance with sub-rule (i) above.

(2)

(i)

During the period of training every Home Guard shall receive free boarding and lodging besides a training allowance of Rs. 30 a month. In the absence of provision for free boarding, he shall receive a ration allowance at the rate of Rs. 40 per month.

(ii)

Home Guards of the technical corps shall get during training free lodging and rations at the rate of Rs. 40 per month and duty allowance at an enhanced rate of Rs. 2.50 per day.

(3)

Members of the Home Guards Force, other than whole-time officers, shall not be entitled to any cost of living allowance.

(4)

A Home Guard who dies while serving the State Government as required by sub-section (1) of Section 8 of the Act, shall be eligible for financial assistance from the Compassionate Fund, Bihar, on the same terms as are allowed to other Government servants, the duty allowance prevailing at the time being treated as pay of the Home Guard for this purpose.

(5)

Pay and allowances of the whole-time officers of the Home Guards Force shall be fixed in accordance with any general or special orders that may be issued by the State Government.

15.

Offences against the Home Guards Force.

- A Home Guard undergoing a course of training or performing service as required by sub-section (1) of Section 8 of the Act, shall, if he does any of the following acts, be deemed to have committed an offence against the Force:-
